

REBELS FOOLED GENERAL LAWTON

Did Not Bag Them in Morony Peninsula.

ESCAPE DUE TO EXCELLENT
SECRET SERVICE.

Movement of American Troops Was

Ascertained and Heralded in an Advance to the Insurgents by Signal Fires at Night and Columns of Smoke by Day—Macabebes Destroyed by Enemy After They Were Driven Out—Our Troops Being Annoyed Nightly by Filipinos, Who Bring Krupp Guns Forward.

Manila, June 6.—[Special]—The insurgents have destroyed Macabebes. The place was burned after the inhabitants were driven out.

The American troops at San Fernando are being annoyed nightly by the rebels, who bring their Krupp guns forward and fire shells into the city.

Several Americans have been wounded. The Americans do not reply to the attacks.

Lawton Fooled by Rebels.

Manila, June 6.—[Special]—The insurgents in the Morong peninsula who Gen. Lawton hoped to bag there have not as yet been encountered.

The escape of the insurgents is largely due to their excellent secret service.

The movement of the American troops was ascertained and heralded in advance to the insurgents by signal fires at night and columns of smoke by day from the mountain tops.

Our troops this morning have been twenty-one hours without food and are exhausted.

Binangonan, June 6 (via carrier pigeon to Manila).—Binangonan was taken yesterday by the Americans without resistance from insurgents.

Treumann's column, consisting of the North Dakota volunteers and one battalion of the Twelfth Infantry, captured this village, which is on the west shore of the peninsula. The insurgents had retreated to the northward.

Gen. Hall's column was supposed to be able to cut off just such a retreat, but the Filipinos eluded him and reached San Maeto.

Gen. Hall's brigade, consisting of the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Infantry, part of the Ninth Infantry, and part of the Oregon volunteer regiment, arrived in Morong at 11:20 o'clock yesterday morning, having left Teresa, three miles away, at 8:30 o'clock. No resistance was made to our advance by the enemy, but the journey was exceedingly hard, owing to the difficult road and the intense heat. Many men were overcome by the exertion of the march and by the heat.

Morong was captured at noon Saturday by Col. Wholly, with the first Washington regiment and the gunboats Napidan and Cavadonga. This regiment, which had been stationed at Pasig, moved north at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, together with two battalions of the Thirteenth Infantry, four battalions of the Ninth Infantry, part of the Nebraska volunteers and Scott's guns of Dyer's battery.

This force, under the command of Col. Wholly, joined Gen. Hall in the attack on Calinta. It later moved its position near to Taytay and waited there until Gen. Hall struck Antipolo, when it took Taytay without loss.

The two commands now joined and made a start toward Morong, stretching a line well across the peninsula. Before the troops had proceeded far Col. Wholly led back the Washington volunteers to Pasig, where, on Saturday night, they embarked in cascos on Laguna de Bay to attack Morong by water. The cascos went aground in the early morning, thus delaying the movement.

After attacking Antipolo, Hall swung down the peninsula, driving the insurgents before him, except the force which had been stationed at Antipolo; it having escaped to the mountains to the north.

When Col. Wholly arrived with his men Saturday a fierce attack was made by the gunboats on Morong. The shore battery was silenced and the natives fled, leaving twelve insurgents dead in the town. Five Americans were wounded in the attack. Col. Wholly landed his men and took possession of Morong this morning. While a scouting party of the Washington volunteers was on reconnaissance beyond the town they had a sharp skirmish, in which one native officer and four insurgent soldiers were killed. The Washingtons lost one man killed and one man wounded.

Gen. Hall encountered no resistance in his march from Antipolo to Morong. In fact, when his command passed through the village of Teresa the inhabitants welcomed the Americans. They said they were tired of war. Large numbers of the natives passed through the American lines and returned to Antipolo and the other villages from which they fled as the American troops approached.

The march made by Gen. Hall's command was most difficult. There were many cases of prostration by the heat.

Active Campaign Is Planned.

Washington, June 6.—American soldiers are not afraid of a little water, and will not follow the Spanish custom of stopping fighting when it rains. Active operations in the Philippines will be continued by the American troops notwithstanding the rainy season.

Plans for conducting an aggressive campaign were discussed at the white house Sunday night by President McKinley, Secretary of State Hay, Assistant Secretary of War Melkjohn and Adjt.-Gen. Corbin. What these plans are the war department officers refuse to make public.

CONGENIAL TWENTY CLUB

Entertained Yesterday Afternoon By Mrs. John Cunningham.

Mrs. John Cunningham entertained members of the "Congenial Twenty Club" yesterday afternoon and last evening at her South Main street home.

The mode of entertainment was most novel.

During the afternoon there was a burlesque art exhibit, that brought forth plenty of fun.

Letters from absent ones were received from all parts of the country the contents of which added plenty of merriment to the occasion.

Refreshments of a most tempting nature were in order and the afternoon and evening were most pleasantly spent.

Richmond.

Richmond, June 6.—Children's day was observed in the Lyman church with appropriate exercises. The ice cream festival and lecture at the M. E. church Thursday evening was not very well attended. A little of our present rain would do more good later on. A drought may be looked for before harvest.

Mrs. Michael Kennett received a telegram from the county poor house at Elkhorn, informing her of the death of her mother, who has been there for a number of years, as she has been blind and unable to be around without an assistant. Mrs. McGlone was interred at Delavan. Dancing parties are numerous. Two parties were held in this village last Saturday. One in the place vacated by Mr. Nort and the other in Mr. Herbert's new barn. Crops never looked better and corn is doing fine. But weeds are plentiful. One thing that is puzzling farmers is that oats and corn have dropped in price considerable and shorts have raised from $12 to $14. Quite a number in this place are planting corn over again. Mosquitoes are taking the place of chinch bugs this year. A Delavan meat wagon now visits this burg twice a week. If the weather permits quite a number will commence corn cultivating this week. Considerable work has been done on the Ambrose-Hare hill. The new marsh road will not be worked until after harvest, as the marsh is too soft to bear travel.

Andrew Peterson of Johnstown, and Mrs. Will Gage of Whitewater, visited at Mrs. Peterson's last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Mahon of Whitewater, were visitors here Sunday. Dell Newbury took a trip to Milwaukee the first of the week.

AMHERST ROBBERS GET 5 YEARS EACH

FARMERS ARE VICTIMIZED BY STEEL RANGE GANG.

Many Near Marshfield Sign Notes Which Were Misrepresented by Their Makers—Fast Mail Train Runs Into a Freight at West Salem—Other News From Badgerdom

Stevens Point, Wis., June 6.—John Harrington and Edward Ratigan, the Amherst bank robbers, were sentenced today by Judge Webb to five years in Waupun. Their attorney made a motion for a new trial, which was refused. Neither man had anything to say in regard to the sentence. They did not even assert their innocence. Wilson, when questioned about a new trial a few days ago, said he was not looking around for trials. The officers, he said, were giving him all the trials he cared for. He wished to be sentenced at once. Hartly and Kelly, however, will make a determined effort for a new trial.

In passing sentence on Harrington and Ratigan the judge said he was sorry that the sentence he was about to impose was so short, but he was bound by the statutes which provides the same sentence whether the offense be great or small. He said that men who would plan so desperate a burglary as the Amherst bank robbery would not hesitate to murder. They will be taken to Waupun tomorrow.

As the engine went down after the second section, the conductor, realizing that the mail was nearly due, ran to flag her, but did not get far enough along. The engineer on the freight did his best to make the switch, but failed, and then started to back. His train had just started when the fast mail struck. The train crew, engineer and fireman, on the freight jumped and were not injured. The passenger engineer reversed his engine, but held to his post and was not injured.

JURY GIVES CROUSE VERDICT FOR $20,000

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR THE JANESVILLE ENGINEER.

Ten Ballots Taken Before the Agreement Was Reached—Nine Favored Giving Plaintiff $25,000; One Favored $20,000, and Two Were For a Less Amount—Case Is Familiar

The jury in the well known case of George F. Crouse against the Chicago & Northwestern railway company, after deliberating from 10:45 yesterday morning until 7:35 last evening, finally succeeded in an agreement and brought in a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, assessing his damages at $20,000. When it was announced that the jury had agreed, Judge Siebeck was summoned and in the presence of the attorneys and court officers he announced the result.

Ten ballots were taken and for nine ballots nine members of the jury voted in favor of placing the plaintiff's damages at $25,000; one at $20,000; one at $18,000, and one at $15,000. On the tenth ballot a compromise was effected on $20,000.

After the announcement of the verdict, Judge Siebeck stated that he would listen to any arguments the attorneys desired to make on Wednesday, June 14th.

The case is a most familiar one to the citizens of Janesville and Rock county. The plaintiff was an engineer in the employ of the Chicago & Northwestern road and had acted in that capacity for a number of years prior to the accident.

On the night of Sunday, July 26th, 1896, Engineer Crouse was pulling a freight south. There had been a very hard storm, but Engineer Crouse had received his orders at Milton Junction to make Janesville. When near the "black bridge," north of the city, a flash of lightning illuminated the track and Engineer Crouse saw a washout and was unable to stop, so he put on a full head of steam and attempted to cross. The engine passed in safety, but the tender broke loose and dropped, followed by a number of cars. Engineer Crouse was injured about the back and hip and physicians say that he can never recover.

Suit was afterward brought by the plaintiff, and the case was tried before Judge Bennett at the November term of 1897. The jury awarded the plaintiff a verdict of $20,000. An appeal was taken to the supreme court and it was sent back for a new trial on the ground of error in the case.

The second trial was taken up last Monday in the Rock county circuit court, Judge Siebeck, of Madison, presiding.

The jury brought in a special verdict in the Crouse case. The eleven questions and their answers were as follows:

1. Was the culvert in question so constructed and maintained as to conduct through it the water which it was intended to conduct through, not only in ordinary showers, but in severe showers that would naturally occur during a series of years, and which could reasonably be anticipated?

Answer. No.

2. Was the culvert in question negligently and carelessly constructed and maintained by the defendant company, its agents or employees so as to render it inadequate for the purpose for which it was constructed?

Answer. Yes.

3. Was the said culvert carefully and thoroughly inspected from time to time by the employees of the company, whose duty it was to give such inspection?

Answer. It was not.

4. Did the nearness of the gravel pit to the culvert, in the month of July render said culvert unsafe in view of the water that might be conducted through it?

Answer. Yes.

5. Was the rainstorm on the night of July 26th, 1896, extraordinary, unusual and unexpected in its character or unprecedented, and one which had only occurred at such long and irregular intervals that it would not be anticipated by men of ordinary prudence by their business calculations?

Answer. No.

6. Might the wash-out in the track have been discovered by the defendant railroad company, by reasonable and proper inspection, and in time to have prevented the accident?

Answer. Yes.

7. Was the storm which occurred on the night of July 26, 1896, one likely to cause damage to the defendant's road bed and track, where the culvert in question was situated?

Answer. Yes.

8. Was the defendant's servant, Stageman, guilty of any negligence in not properly and carefully inspecting the road near where this culvert was, on the night in question?

Answer. Yes.

9. Was the plaintiff in the exercise of ordinary care at and prior to the time of his injury?

Answer. Yes.

10. Was the plaintiff injured on the night in question, in consequence of the washout, without contributory negligence on his part?

Answer. Yes.

11. What damage has the plaintiff sustained in consequence of the injury received on the night in question?

Answer. $20,000.

Dated, June 2, 1899.

AFTERNOON GOWN OF CHECKED GINGHAM FROM HARPER'S BAZAR

The costume published today, and taken from Harper's Bazar, is one that represents simplicity of outline and of making, and presents no difficulty to even an inexperienced needle-woman. The apron shaped upper part of the skirt is in three pieces, cut upon the straight of the goods, and fitted to the form by darts placed at intervals. It closes in the center of the back in undisturbed pleats. The ruffle flares about the bottom, but is joined smoothly around the curved edge of the skirt under flat stitched bands of plain colored gingham, cut in bias stripes and stitched on each side, as was the fashion in satin band trimming during the past winter. The ruffles should be cut upon the straight of the goods, and the breadths joined according to the demands of the ruffle pattern. The pattern does not follow for hem at the bottom of the ruffle. A shaped facing for the latter accompanies the pattern, which is that of a skirt of simple walking length just touching the ground in the back.

The gingham bodice has a slightly shirred back, the fullness being distributed gently between the shoulders at the collar line, and caught into the center of the back at the waist line. The front fits smoothly over the shoulders, and closes down the center under a wide box pleat, which narrows slightly at the waist. The fullness which would ordinarily be taken into darts is folded under in slight outward-turning pleats on each side of the center box-pleat. The simple but effective collar is edged with flat bands of plain gingham. The sleeves are of the medium coat variety, gathered into the armhole, and finished with a turned back cuff, trimmed with plain stitched bands like those that trim the collar. Chambray, linen, percale, batiste, or any strictly wash fabric will bring out this design effectively, and linen braids or wash ribbons may be substituted for the stitched bands of plain material.

Of any material 27 inches wide 11 yards will be found sufficient to make this gown for a person of medium size.

ESCAPE OF TRAIN ROBBERS CUT OFF

THE BANDITS SECURED FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS.

Fifteen Men in Command of Sheriff Tracked Bandits to Medicine Row Mountains—Reward of Two Thousand Dollars Offered for Every Desperado, Dead or Alive.

Omaha, June 3.—[Special]—A telegram to the Union Pacific officials from near the scene of yesterday's holdup in which fifty thousand dollars is said to have been secured, says fifteen men in command of the sheriff tracked the bandits into Medicine Row mountain and have them where they cannot escape without fighting double their own number.

The posse have been near enough to the robber band to see them several times. The posse found evidence that the bandits deliberately provided relays where they could feed and water their horses.

A fierce fight is hourly expected. The sheriff and men are armed with long range Winchester and have been offered two thousand dollars for every bandit they capture, alive or dead.

The bandits are armed with short carbines and will stand little show in a fight with the officers.

All escape from Medicine Row mountain has been cut off by sending trains loaded with armed men over the road for several miles where the outlaws must pass in their flight, provided they escape the sheriff and his men in their rear.

WOODMAN PICNIC VICTIM

Charles Colahan Died at the Rockford Hospital Yesterday.

Charles Colahan, the young man who was so terribly injured on the Northwestern road while on his way to the Woodman picnic at Beloit on Thursday morning, died at the Rockford hospital yesterday morning, the end coming shortly before 8 o'clock.

Colahan was unconscious most of the time from the minute he was injured until the end, although during the night it was believed that he faintly recognized those about him. His father asked him whether he knew him and he nodded his head, and his brother John, who arrived from Chicago, also secured recognition from the injured man.

LIGHTNING FIRED HOUSE AND BARN

WILLIAM SCHMITZ LOSES HIS HOME AND CONTENTS.

Family Barely Had Time To Escape with Their Lives—Barns and Sheds on the Margaret Tripp Farm Destroyed—Five Calves Were Consumed by the Flames.

During the severe storm last night lightning fired the large barn and cattle sheds on the Mrs. Margaret Tripp farm in the town of Rock.

Before the flames were under control they had done fatal work leveling the wooden structures to the ground.

As soon as the flames were discovered the farm hands started at once to save the horses and cattle.

All were removed with the exception of five calves which were consumed.

The bolt struck at one o'clock this morning and within five minutes time the buildings were enveloped in dense smoke that filled the air, making the work of rescue difficult.

This is the second barn on the same spot destroyed by lightning, and a few years ago a cyclone pulled a barn off the same foundation and scattered it for three miles.

Schmidt Home Destroyed

During the storm lightning struck the William Schmidt home south of this city and three miles east of Clinton.

The flames got in their fatal work within a few minutes time and the family had barely time to escape. The house and all its contents were destroyed.

Railroads Have Trouble

The severe rainfall delayed trains on both the Chicago & Northwestern and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroads into this city.

The early morning paper train from Chicago was two hours late owing to a washout on the Northwestern road between here and Afton.

The damage was soon repaired and by 9 o'clock traffic was again resumed. On the Milwaukee road morning trains were delayed.

Wind Raises Havoc

At 10 o'clock last evening a strong wind visited this section of the country raising havoc with small buildings, trees and wind mills. The damage will amount to a goodly sum.

THE TRAFFIC IN HUMAN FLESH.

Locked in vile dens with only barred windows for peep-holes; abused and beaten by cruel masters; compelled to submit to gross indignities; bartered like beasts—this is the horrible fate of hundreds of Japanese and Chinese girls who are sold into slavery in San Francisco and other Pacific coast cities. This traffic in slave girls forms one of the most hideous callings that history has ever recorded, and the vile men and women who make it their sole vocation are creatures so low that murderers cannot be classed in their category. It is a calling that reaches across the Pacific ocean into the homes of the poor people of Japan and China, for professional procurers and procuresses are regularly employed. These are thieves and abductors, for many of the girls are stolen from their homes when their parents refuse to sell them. These men and women of the slave trade journey through the interior districts of China and Japan seeking the most beautiful girls, marking them as victims for their hideous business. Sometimes the parents of these girls, if they are burdened with large families, will sell for a price, but if they refuse the girls are made captives and carried away. As a usual thing a procurer or procuress who makes a journey across the ocean for recruits returns with eight or ten girls. Various schemes are resorted to in order to land the young women in America, but it is very infrequent that they are sent back. A pretty slave girl often brings as high as $3,000, so that the business of procuring recruits is a profitable one. A bunch of new arrivals is made the object of an animated bargain sale by the ugly keepers of dives, who visit the house where the new girls are kept and bid for them as a stock raiser would bid on a herd of cattle. The poor girls are bartered away, and soon after their arrival in America they have become prisoners in some gilded den where ugly Orientals and vile white men compel them to submit to the most shocking indignities. An invariable rule, in the transfer of a slave girl from her procurer to the man who has bought her, is to fill her hand with bright coins, this for the purpose of soothing the young creature's mind. But the coin remains in her possession only until she has been safely installed in her master's dive, when not only the money is taken from her, but she is compelled to array herself in a peculiar garment, and there is placed on her head a flimsy coronet, which signifies her character. And this hideous traffic is made more horrible by the fact that many of the slave victims are mere children. In recent raids made by the "Prisco" authorities children not yet 12 years of age have been found arrayed in the characteristic garb. The movement being made to crush out the business of selling girls into slavery is receiving material assistance from missionaries who have virtually taken their lives in their hands and gone among the Highlanders and other Chinamen in order to break up this awful traffic in human souls. They have rescued a number of the slaves. From these some of the secrets of the slave business have been learned. And from these girls have been obtained details which show the hideousness of their lives in the Chinese resorts.

HAS LIVED 145 YEARS.

On the high table land of El Dorado county, between the north and middle forks of the Cosumnes river and among the lofty Sierra peaks, lives a remnant of the oldest of old Californian Indian tribes. Once, ages before California knew the face of white man, the race was 2,000 strong—tall, straight and powerful. Their tribal name was Tanche (the cat)—one feared and respected throughout the mountains. Now but five are left. Civilization and time have all but exterminated the race; still the wonderful vitality of the old stock remains, for these five are not only tribally the most ancient of North American natives, but individually are oldest in the world. With these five will die the name of Tanche, for the youngest is 98, and the old grandmother, Unchupus, has already seen 145 Californian winters. When Sutter was first heard of by Indians, Unchupus' great, great granddaughter was married and had three children almost grown. Of the present survivors, Oo, the daughter, is 120 years old; Unchup, the son, is 102; Elomia, the niece, is 98; while Burnt Jim, the grandson, is 104. Burnt Jim once had an Indian name, but upon the advent of the whites he acquired the fire water habit and during a celebration had a sudden burst of conviviality which landed him face down in the camp fire. This second christening dubbed him "Burnt Jim" on the spot. The quietest are in good health, and, with the exception of old Unchupus, wait on themselves and work for their living of game, roots and acorns. They have no legal standing, no property and no agency. Under the law they are but trespassers upon the unimproved land of the whites—ignored but unmolested. The old grandmother is sleeping out her second century. She wakens merely to take nourishment. Her hair is as white as carded wool and her flesh has wasted away from inactivity until naught but skin and bones remain. They have to lead her like a baby—or an animated wrinkle—when she walks. These old Indians having no children of their own have persuaded two families of young Indians, from another tribe, to camp on their grounds. Towards them they display the greatest affection, but to strangers they are invariably taciturn and cold. Their habits and crude hovers resemble those of the wild animals among whom they have lived; still they have their own ideas of law, and to these and the ancient rites of the Tanche they cling with tribal fanaticism. One of these customs as a tribe has been the privilege of the daughters, between the ages of 13 and 20, to sell themselves in marriage, the proceeds going to the parents and no dowry to the wigwams of their lords. On a small knoll in the center of the camp stands the oldest pow-wow wigwam in all America. It is circular, 78 feet in diameter, and the walls are of upright slabs four feet high. It was built 130 years ago from crude cedar carried twelve miles on the backs of the braves and chopped out with stone axes. Originally the walls were seven feet high, but the structure has been moved three times and made smaller as the Tanche were gradually stricken down. Four huge logs fourteen feet high support the center of the cone-shaped roof, and between these was built the pow-wow fire on state occasions, when the chiefs sat in council and watched the smoke curl up through the opening at the top.

There is in the National Museum at Washington the strangest, most curious necklace which the United States government owns. It is composed of thirty human fingers, sewed on the strip of buckskin, elaborately beaded. It came from a tepee belonging to a Yaqui Indian chief in the Sierra Madre mountains in Mexico, and was an heirloom of his family. The bits of anatomy which go to make up this necklace once belonged to the enemies and other persons slain by a famous Yaqui chief, and are supposed to have been placed in the position they now occupy upon the buckskin more than a century ago. Owing to their present blackened condition, it is impossible to decide definitely whether in the original they belonged to Indians, Mexicans or white people. From their appearance, however, it is judged that they were the property of men, women and children, the Indian slaughterer evidently having made up his gruesome trophy from those who for some special reason were worthy of undying remembrance. The habit of finger collecting existed half a century ago among nearly all the southern tribes of Indians. There might be disputes about scalps, the red men argued, but no one could question the evidence of a finger. Some Indian tribes combined the hand and finger trophy, or rather the use of them, and possessed both. In the early days of the invasion of the western section of America by the white, the story is told of the mysterious disappearance of a wagon train, of which nothing was ever heard until a white man who had escaped from the Apaches, by whom he had been taken prisoner, reported that the chief of a neighboring tribe had, about the time the caravan vanished, suddenly appeared one day with a necklace composed entirely of white human fingers, which had not long parted company with their owners.

Voices (over the telephone)—Say, didn't you tell me those frogs you sold me an hour ago for fishbait were all alive and in good condition?

The Other Voice—They were when I sent them. I never saw livelier frogs.

Original Voice—Well, they've all croaked. Ring off.

The Tardy Watchmaker.

A watchmaker, not a hundred miles from Galashiel, was well known to be very slow and to keep jobs a very long time.

Once he had a watch to repair, and the party having got on the "fiddle" went and "listened" and forgot all about his watch.

He served his twenty-one years, and having returned to his native town, he thought he would call on the watchmaker and get his watch.

Meeting him at the door, the soldier inquired if his watch was ready.

"Mon," said the watchmaker, "I am just going to start on it."

To take his word for it was like "going it blind." It's a very different thing when a statement is prescribed from a citizen, from people we know, and that's the case here.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE.

Failures During May Were the Smallest Ever Known.

$2,000,000 LESS THAN APRIL.

Demand for Iron Is Increasing—Many More Furnaces Are in Blast, and the Famine Grows Severe—Cotton Goods Continue Steady.

New York, June 3.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: "April failures were the smallest ever reported in any month. May failures are nearly $2,000,000 smaller, only $5.2 per cent of the smallest previously reported in any month, and only 34.3 per cent of those in May last year. Solvent payments were $3,323,292,052, and defaults were $3,820,686, or 45.7 cents on $1,000, against 70 cents in April, $1.19 in March and $8.02 in September, 1896. Comparison with previous years indicates that the rate of defaults to solvent business has never been as small in any other month as in May, 1899. Both in manufacturing and in trading failures were the smallest ever known in any month, and in each branch eight of the fourteen classes showed smaller failures than in May of any other year.

"More than twenty years ago the demand for iron was called the industrial barometer, and it claims the place yet when the demand passes all belief. Many more furnaces have gone into blast, and yet the famine grows more severe. Cotton goods are steady, with increased demand, notwithstanding higher prices. Sales of wool for the week at three chief markets were $3,377,800 pounds, against 4,533,200 last year.

"Failures for the week have been 145 in the United States, against 222 last year, and 14 in Canada, against 16 last year."

RUNNING SORE ON HIS ANKLE.

After Six Years of Intense Suffering, Promptly Cured By S. S. S.

Obstinate sores and ulcers which refuse to heal under ordinary treatment soon become chronic and deep-seated, and are a sure sign that the entire circulation is in a depraved condition. They are a severe drain upon the system, and are constantly sapping away the vitality. In every case the poison must be eliminated from the blood, and no amount of external treatment can have any effect.

There is no uncertainty about the merits of S. S. S.; every claim made for it is backed up strongly by convincing testimony of those who have been cured by it and know of its virtues by experience.

Mr. L. J. Clark, of Orange Courthouse, Va., writes:

"For six years I had an obstinate, running ulcer on my ankle, which at times caused me intense suffering. I was so disabled for a long while that I was wholly unfit for business. One of the best doctors treated me constantly, but did me no good. I then tried various blood remedies, without the least benefit. S. S. S. was so highly recommended that I concluded to try it, and the effect was wonderful. It seemed to get right at the seat of the disease and force the poison out, and I was soon completely cured." Swift's Specific—

S. S. S. FOR THE BLOOD

—drives out every trace of impurity in the blood, and in this way cures permanently the most obstinate, deep-seated sore or ulcer. It is the only blood remedy guaranteed purely vegetable, and contains not a particle of potash, mercury, or other mineral. S. S. S. cures Contagious Blood Poison, Scrofula, Cancer, Catarrh, Eczema, Rheumatism, Sores, Ulcers, Boils, or any other blood trouble. Insist upon S. S. S.; nothing can take its place.

THE WEEKLY GAZETTE

HORSES IN DEMAND

Rock county farmers will be interested in The New York Journal's opinion of the condition of the horse market. The Journal says: "Signs are multiplying that we are approaching a critical period in the horse market—the market, that is to say, for horses suited for everyday work. Of course, this is said with all the possible deference to those that assert that the end of the horse's utility is nearly reached."

"The fact is that we are just beginning to feel seriously the reaction from a period of overproduction. The net result of that time of excessive and indiscriminate breeding is that horses are becoming scarce. This spring horses are selling at high figures whenever and wherever they are of the stamp that merits it, but the real scarcity has not yet been appreciated."

Breeding establishments without number have been broken up in the panicky times of the last five years. Our export trade has increased enormously, quietly and gradually, but none the less surely, until it is stated that 51,000 horses, apart from thorough breeds and trotters shipped for racing purposes, were sent out of the country last year. In the mania for trotting blood converted to the purpose of high-stepping harness work, many stallions have been put to the stud, while mares that, with a flush market, would have been held too precious for sale have been exported or devoted to active work here.

"From these and make some other causes the supply is not equaling the demand. The spread of the horse show has done much to make the public's taste in horse flesh exacting, and now it is common to hear dealers of high standing complain that, search as they may, they cannot find material to suit the taste of purchasers, who are willing to pay big figures for good animals."

"These are matters that the farmers will do well to ponder. The time was never ripe to reap big returns from capital wisely invested in high class breeding stock. It does not pay, and probably never will pay again, to breed indiscriminately from trashy stock, but there is every prospect that the market for all varieties of horses that approximate the best types will not only stay strong, but that something like famine prices will be paid within the next two or three years."

There is always a market for good horses, "scrubs" and common stock never bring good prices, but well bred showy animals now do, and always will command a high price.

LEGISLATIVE RECORD--1899

Madison Journal.—It has been one of the most fruitful sessions in the history of the state as respects laws for the people. Never has a legislature enacted so many good things for the working man and working woman. There are eleven new distinct laws or amendments. Among reforms are the providing of seats for female employees when not busy; compelling of sanitary conditions in cigar factories; addition of four labor inspectors (now a total of six), prohibiting discrimination by employers against union labor, an anti-sweat shop law, a child labor law, a measure for the protection of the men who work in the lumber regions from time check sharks, and a law regulating employment agencies. Any one of the following five great enactments is sufficient to make the session memorable:

- (1) Abolition of the free pass, frank privilege, etc., to public officials.
- (2) Laws taxing express, sleeping car, freight line and equipment companies.
- (3) Increasing taxation of life insurance companies—increased revenue of $225,000.
- (4) Establishment of the tax commission.
- (5) Law discouraging secret and disreputable lobby work.

Marriage reform. Tax on inheritances. Settlement with federal government authorized respecting swamp lands—promising 400,000 acres to the state.

Geological survey continued. Board of immigration kept at work. $75,000 to normal schools for extensions of plant.

Green Bay reformatory put on a permanent basis—$1000,000 maintenance for two years, and $150,000 for buildings.

$158,000 for the Chippewa Falls institution for feeble-minded.

Completion of new library for Historical society assured. New engineering hall for the university.

Specific appropriations for university and normal schools substituted for percentage system.

National Guard re-organized on basis of regular army. Thus preventing the confusion that occurred during the Spanish war.

Two experts put to work to unify and simplify state finances.

Caucus system of '97 stripped of its preliminary (parlor) meeting.

Land office to be dismantled two years hence—force cut down to three officials and made a tender of the secretary of state's office.

Wisconsin Central railroad may re-organize.

Constitutional amendment, submitted to the people authorizing legislature to enact a banking law.

Kindergartens and manual training encouraged.

Threshermen granted a lien. $25,000 for Wisconsin exhibit at Buffalo exposition. Thanks to Helen Gould. County normal schools subsidized. Check put on municipal damage suit industry.

All normal schools, the university and the nine charitable and penal institutions provided for.

With such a superb record the republican party, having redeemed its pledges and legislated for the people at all points, faces the future with confidence.

SOME BADGER BRIGHTNESS

Green Bay Gazette.—Wisconsin congressmen took the initiative in the speakership contest and it is pretty safe to say that the result would not be changed by the referendum.

Evening Wisconsin.—The disclosures of the Roman trial, and reflections upon the matrimonial instabilities of the human race, suggest the remark of the French wit: "Being asked why she wore black in mourning for her departed spouse, she replied: 'It is honest; it is decent; and it does not discourage.'"

Oshkosh Northwestern.—R. J. O'Hanlon, principal of the Twenty-first district school in Milwaukee, must now be more convinced than ever that the easiest and most popular way to conduct a school is to institute nothing new and let things go on in the same rut that the public has learned to love.

Milwaukee Journal.—The success of Milwaukee athletes in the eastern colleges would suggest an essay on the effect of beer on the physique.

Kenosha Gazette.—It is no discredit to a man to have enemies—to have men oppose him. It is the one who pursues a "nanny-pammy" course who never offends. It is the live men, those of vigor and push, who have convictions, and having them defend them, because they are right, who create enemies. "The man who never says 'I' himself, who agrees with you always, and with everybody, who hesitates to discharge his obligations when they come up for honest actions, never has either friends or enemies. And to be candid an honest enemy is more to be admired than a friend you make by saying nothing."

Kenosha Gazette.—The Janesville Gazette, Rep., speaking of The Milwaukee Journal, says: "It is still a 'believer' in democratic principles, which means, what, does it mean? We respectfully refer the question to the various gold and silver democratic organs for settlement." As far as the "principles" is concerned this paper is ready to accept the fact that the Journal is the purveyor of paper in the state, or in the country, for that matter, in its honesty of expressions. And it has done more, and is today doing more, for the good of the democratic party than any other paper in the state. And it is doing it, not in a cringing, conceding manner, but in an expression of honest convictions, and in pointing out what is right and what is wrong in politics.

WAGES ARE INCREASED.

Chicago concerns manufacturing machinery of all kinds, having 30,000 employees, have given their men an increase in wages recently amounting all the way from five to thirty per cent. The following table prepared by the Times-Herald, gives the number of men employed by some of the concerns and the percentage of increase in wages that has been recently made:

National Tube Works	5,000	30
McCormick Harvesting Machine Co.	7,000	5
Deering Harvester Company	6,500	5
Crane Company	3,000	10
National Malleable Casting Co.	2,000	10
Gates Iron Works	400 to 500	10
Webster Manufacturing Company	400	10
Lake Erie Machine Company	350	4
M. C. Bullock Manufacturing Co.	175	10
A. Plomondon Manufacturing Co.	200	10
Charles F. Elme Engineering Co.	100	8
Kelly, Maus & Co.	100	10

The above table does not include all the concerns that have made their employees happy by swelling their pay envelopes. Many of the firms do not care to make public the extent of wage increase they have made.

SETS MR. COOPER RIGHT.

Congressman Mann, who speaks for Mr. Hopkins on the speakership fight, is out with a correction of a mistake which the Hopkins men made regarding the alleged "hop" of Congressman Cooper of Racine, from the Illinois to the Iowa candidate. He said:

"The republican congressmen in Illinois are well satisfied with the course of Mr. Cooper in the caucus which was held at Milwaukee last Saturday. Mr. Cooper did not vote for Col. Henderson on the promise of the rivers and harbors committee chairmanship, or of any other chairmanship in the house. He voted for Mr. Hopkins, but when a majority of the Wisconsin congressmen voted for Col. Henderson, Mr. Cooper joined the others in making the choice unanimous."

"Cornstalk disease" is the name given to an affection occurring in cattle as a result of eating cornstalks and corn feed that seems to have been rendered poisonous by moldiness and fermentation. The disorder is usually confined to animals under four years of age, and it runs a rapid course, causing death in from four to thirty-six hours.

The Milwaukee Brewers' association voluntarily made a decrease in the working hours of brewery employees from ten to nine hours a day. The wages that were paid for ten hours will be paid for nine hours. This is an increase of 10 per cent. About 4,000 men are affected.

The United States double-turreted monitors are to be withdrawn from deep sea service and used hereafter for coast defense purposes only—the work for which they were designed. The monitors have demonstrated their fitness for any kind of service, however, and can be sent to sea whenever they are needed.

Cardinal Gibbons asserts that law of divorce is a toleration of Mormonism in modified form, and advocates abolition of such legislation. Chicago and Fargo people will take offense at this statement, in all probability, on the ground that the change would be in "favor of the few against the many."

TWO WELL KNOWN RESIDENTS DEAD

BOTH WERE PIONEERS OF THE BOWER CITY.

John Shortney Summoned This Morning at 12:40 O'clock at His North River Street Home—Alfred Alden's Demise Occurred Saturday Evening—Was Ill Three Weeks.

(From Monday's Daily.) John Shortney passed into the shadows of the unknown beyond this morning at 12:40 o'clock at his home, 209 North River street.

Decensed was born in London, England, in the year 1822 and came to the United States in 1849. One year later he came to Wisconsin and located in Janesville, where he has since resided.

Decensed was for years bookkeeper in the dry goods store of Smith & Bostwick and was a well known figure in the retail business of this city. He was a man of strict integrity and very conscientious, and was highly esteemed.

He leaves a wife and five children to mourn the loss of a kind husband and affectionate father. The children are, Isabelle, Letitia, Jeanette and James, of this city, and John, of La Crosse.

Funeral services will be held from thence, Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock and the interment will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

Alfred Alden

Last Saturday evening at 9:15 o'clock Alfred Alden closed his eyes to awake no more in this dream. He had been ill for three weeks and his death occurred at his home on Hickory street. He passed peacefully into the shadows and so quietly was his departure, the relatives and friends by his bedside scarcely knew when the summons came.

Decensed was born in Claremont, New Hampshire, and had lived until the twenty-second of this month he would have been seventy-seven years old. His came to Janesville in the year 1849, following his brother, the late James M. Alden, with whom for many years he was engaged in the manufacture of brick. A liberal descendant of John Alden, of Puritan fame, he was of almost iron constitution and although for years his hair and beard have been gray, he was blessed with remarkable physical strength. During the past winter his health began to fail and he daily grew more feeble. Three weeks ago he suffered a severe attack of rheumatism. He recovered his strength in a measure but on last Thursday there was a change for the worse. Although medical aid and careful nursing by loving relatives added much to his comfort, he had not sufficient vitality to rally. He realized fully that the end was near, and Saturday afternoon told one of his nieces that he was almost gone. He was a well informed man, and very decided in his opinions. Politically he was a strong republican. He had many excellent qualities, of which the chief was extravagant generosity and faithful affection for his friends, though he tried to hide both. He was unmarried, his nearest relations being an only sister in Claremont, New Hampshire; his brother's widow, Mrs. Catherine Alden of this city, and his nephews and nieces. Among the number in this city are: Mrs. F. C. Cook, Mrs. P. S. Fenton, Mrs. M. H. Gibbs, Miss Louise Peterson, Mrs. Mary Alden, E. C. Alden, L. K. Alden, and Miss Hattie Alden of Washington, D. C., who is visiting here.

Funeral services were held at the home of P. S. Fenton, 53 Locust street, at 10 o'clock this morning. Rev. R. C. DeLeon, pastor of the Congregational church, officiating. After the very impressive ceremony, the remains were laid tenderly at rest in Oak Hill cemetery. The following acted as pall bearers: F. C. Cook, O. H. Brand, J. B. Smith, Miron H. Gibbs, E. C. Alden and L. K. Alden.

CAUGHT BY CUPID.

Stacy-Hodgdon.

(From Monday's Daily.)

Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the home of bride's mother, Mrs. J. W. Hodgdon, 58 Terrace street, Rev. Arthur C. Kempton, pastor of the First Baptist church, spoke the words that united as man and wife Harry Stacy and Miss Bertha Hodgdon, both of Chicago. The wedding ceremony was performed in the presence of only a few relatives of the contracting parties. After receiving congratulations and best wishes, the guests sat down to an elaborate wedding feast.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mrs. J. W. Hodgdon and most of her life has been passed in Janesville and has by her winning ways won the esteem of a large circle of friends.

The groom is highly spoken of and is a stenographer, employed as a court reporter in Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Stacy departed yesterday for Chicago, where they will make their future home. They take with them the best wishes of their many local friends.

Among those present at the wedding from out of the city were Miss Minnie Peters and Frank Chamberlin, of Chicago.

Martha-Pickering

Yesterday afternoon at the Baptist parsonage, Frank Matthys of Elgin, Ill., and Miss Ada Pickering of this city, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony, Rev. A. C. Kempton, pastor of the Baptist church, uttering the words that united them as man and wife.

The happy couple have left for the Illinois home of the groom, where they will make their future home.

At the Roberts home in Forest Park this evening at 7:30, Rev. W. W. Woodside will unite as husband and wife Herbert Roberts, of this city, and Miss Emma Matpress, of Edgerton.

A. L. BEHNS visited Lodi today.

LIEUT. RICHARDSON SWAM THE RIVER

EQUALS FUNSTON'S ACT IN THE PHILIPPINES.

At the Head of His Regiment He Crossed the Stream at a Time When Bullets Were Plentiful—News Comes From George W. Kroner, a Private in the Army.

Gen. Frederick Funston of the Twentieth Kansas is not the only brave American who ever swam a river at the head of his men and in the face of a galling fire. There is a modest man from Janesville in the service at Manila who did the self same thing—Lieut. Lorraine Thompson Richardson of the Twentieth United States regulars.

Although Lieut. Richardson equaled Funston's feat, his modesty, apparently, prevented him from saying anything about it in his letters to Janesville relatives and friends. But "murder will out" and a letter written by George W. Kroner, a private in the regiment, tells of his gallantry as follows:

"The Filipinos—niggers, we call them—would not grant us time to write for awhile here. No more had we landed than we received orders to go to the front. The first three days we did not do much shooting, although their sharpshooters were continually popping at us. After we, (the Twentieth) got started we kept going for days. Talk about real genuine soldiers—one meal a day, hard tack and bacon sure enough—running, fighting, sleeping with the stars for a blanket and good old mother earth for a bed spring. The niggers were used to fighting at night, but Gen. Wheaton who came over with us, said:

"We will have to teach the niggers to fight in the daytime."

"At first they blazed away at us at 8 a. m., and we started in about 6 o'clock—daybreak. They try to make numerous stands, but they are not onto their job." However, they are learning to fight as we do.

"We had the task on March 12 of taking Pasig, a walled city. We led the advance upon the islands upon which Pasig is situated, and charged up the street to a large church, their stronghold. We shot it full of holes and burst in the doors, and after driving out the niggers, some of the boys ran up into the belfry and rang the bells as they had never been rung before.

"About 10 o'clock on March 16, we stopped at a river that we had to cross to get to the city of Cainta, where the Filipinos were preparing to make a stand. Our battalion commander was dickering how to cross that river at some shallow place. Ping! came the bullets from the enemy. They thought we were stuck.

"The water was up to our armpits, and we threw everything away except rifle and cartridge belt, and with Lieut. Richardson, a regular daredevil, in the lead, swam across in a hurry. Then it became hot on both sides. We would run toward the Filipinos fifty yards at a time and make a baseball slide for a ridge and pump several volleys into them.

"When we got orders for a final charge we made a direct assault on their stronghold, yelling and shouting as we ran. Those we didn't shoot died from fright, as we yelled like Indians. We had to make a bold charge or get killed, as we only had ten rounds of ammunition. Had the niggers known our fix, we would never have taken Cainta. After taking the church, their stronghold, we rang the bells, and set the structure on fire."

Lieut. Richardson is the son of ex-Senator and Mrs. Hamilton Richardson, of this city, and was born in Janesville on May 20, 1871. He graduated from West Point with honors, and was assigned to the Twentieth infantry as a second lieutenant. He served through the Santiago campaign, winning promotion to first lieutenant, and the brevet of captain. After the fall of Santiago his regiment was sent to the Philippines. Soon after their arrival the captain of Lieut. Richardson's company was taken sick, and since then the lieutenant has been in command of his company. He is now doing police duty in the city of Manila, and has complete control of a large section of the town—an exceedingly trying and responsible position.

Lieut. Richardson's oldest brother, Victor P., is mayor of Janesville, and his next oldest brother is a justice of the peace. H. P. Richardson, of Monroe & Richardson, lawyers, Milwaukee, is also his brother.

DIXON AND DILLON CHARGED WITH ARSON

INSURANCE COMPANIES CAUSE THEIR ARREST.

Complaint Charges the Defendants with Setting Fire to Barns on the Fair Grounds Last April—Hearing Will Take Place Next Thursday Morning.

(From a special report.)

On complaint filed by Frank C. Hazelton, of the local fire insurance firm of Carter & Hazelton, Anthony Dixon and Thomas Dillon of the town of Rock were placed under arrest this morning by Sheriff Appleby and Officer Cochran on the charge of arson.

In the municipal court at 11 o'clock this morning the defendants appeared and gave bail in the sum of $300 each, the examination being continued until Thursday, June 8, at 10 o'clock.

According to the complaint it is alleged that the defendants set fire to the Dixon & Dillon training stable at the fair grounds on the night of Saturday, April 8, 1899, for the purpose of defrauding the Niagara Fire Insurance company of New York and the Phoenix Insurance company of Brooklyn.

At the time of the fire Dixon & Dillon were owners of the burned stable, having it insured in the Niagara Company. The contents of the building, consisting of hay, grain, vehicles, blankets and equipments were insured in the Phoenix Company.

The barn was valued at $1,000. At the time of the fire a row of stalls and much fencing on the fair grounds was destroyed, it being the property of J. M. Bostwick.

During the past few days it is said that the insurance companies have had detectives in the city and county gathering evidence.

When the case was called in court this morning the defendants were represented by Sutherland & Nolan.

Alderman H. S. Gilkey and O. G. Bennett signed Dixon's bond and Thos. Nolan and Walter Briggs went bail for Dillon.

REORGANIZATION OF OUR STATE MILITIA

PLANS HAVE BEEN ALMOST COMPLETED.

Janesville Must Hustle to Secure Their Old Place in the First Regiment—Selection of Officers Will Come Next—Equipping New Companies. Will Soon Begin.

The plans for the reorganization of the Wisconsin national guard now practically have been completed, but there is some time left yet for the Bower City boys to exert their energies in an effort to gain recognition. It is expected that this week the work of selecting field officers and formally reorganizing the regiments will be begun. Besides this the work of equipping the new companies will then begin, while the details for the annual camps at Camp Douglas will be made public.

It has been definitely decided that the four companies, which will be allotted to Milwaukee will be a part of the first regiment and will form a battalion in themselves. In view of this it is not improbable that the headquarters of the First will be in Milwaukee, instead of at Monroe, where it has been for many years. What companies the regiment will be composed of has not been definitely decided. Of the four companies in Milwaukee, three have already been mustered in, those of Capt. J. F. Manion, Capt. T. Wild and Capt. E. Lewis, all of the old Fourth regiment. There is also a company in Milwaukee known as Company C, fifth regiment, but this will probably be mustered out to make room for one of the other old companies now desiring admission into the guard. Among these are Co. D and Co. G of the old fourth, which have applications for muster-in on file at Madison. Capt. A. K. Stebbins also has a company of recruits. The battalion, from present indications, however, will be made up from the three old fourth regiment companies already in the service, and either Co. D or Co. G. As for the other companies in the regiment, five have already been decided upon—Co. C. Whitewater; Co. G, Madison; Co. B, Fort Atkinson; Co. E, Beloit; and Co. H, Monroe. The other three companies needed for the regiment will be made up of fourth or fifth regiment companies. There may be such a thing that the feeling against Janesville may blow over and the Bower City be afforded an opportunity to "get in line."

Various names have been mentioned for colonel of the new first regiment. In Milwaukee Col. H. M. Seaman has been prominently mentioned, and during the past few days Col. B. H. Daly's name has also been connected with the place. In addition to these two, the names of Col. S. P. Schadel of Monroe and Lieut. Col. S. C. Young of the same city are being suggested. Maj. George Joachim of Madison and Maj. A. B. Cambier and Maj. T. K. Birkhauser of Milwaukee also have been spoken of. Who will be appointed, the military officers at Madison say, has not been decided upon.

The second regiment is almost complete, and little work besides organizing the field staff remains to be done. It will be the same as it was before, with only one exception. Marshfield two Oshkosh, Ripon, Fond du Lac, Sheboygan, Appleton, Marinette, Beaver Dam, Oconto and Manitowish companies have reorganized. At Ashland there is a hitch, and unless an agreement is reached soon, one of the Fifth regiment companies in that vicinity will be mustered in to fill up the gap in the regiment. The officers of the regiment remain to be chosen. It is not known if Col. Charles R. Born will be reappointed. Capt. Charles Green, who served as adjutant for the regiment during the war, also is being mentioned for the colonelcy.

The Third regiment has been formed with one exception, that of Eau Claire, where two factions have arisen in Co. E. Capt. J. Ballard is leader of one side while Lieut. P. Cochran is the head of the other faction, and the dispute there has prevented the reorganization of the company at Eau Claire and if the Third regiment company there is not reorganized, the Fifth regiment company will be annexed to the Third regiment. The other companies which will be in the new Third will be Hudson, Menomonie, West Superior, two La Crosse, Tomah, Sparta, Neillsville, Mauston, Portage and Wausau. Captain O. Howland of La Crosse, is being prominently mentioned for the head of the Third, and it is practically settled that he will succeed Colonel M. T. Moore, who is also a candidate for reappointment.

The arrangements for equipping the guard have been completed. The state has let the contracts for 2,300 uniforms which will be delivered July 10 and will be distributed just before the companies go into camp this year.

In addition to these, contracts for tents, have been let, while the ordnance has already been received from Washington. Springfield rifles, thoroughly re-used. The authorities say that when the equipment is furnished the men of the various regiments will be more completely provided than they were when they were called into service last spring.

The details for the annual camp have not all been decided upon but the troops will go to Camp Douglas this year as in the past. August will probably be chosen for the time. Each regiment will go into camp separately.

PIONEER RESIDENT OF CLINTON DEAD

JEDIDIAH ELLIOT PASSED FROM EARTH FRIDAY, JUNE 2.

Taken with a Paralytic Stroke and Ill
One Week—The Case of Jerome
Shimeall Versus Mr. Putnam Settled Before Coming to Trial—Will Observe Children's Day.

Clinton, June 6.—Jedidiah Elliott, an old and respected resident of this village, passed away Friday, June 2, at about seventy-five years of age. He had lived in Clinton for many years and was a regular attendant and a member of the Methodist church. He leaves a wife and five grown up sons and two daughters. He had been sick about one week being taken with a paralytic stroke. The suit before Justice Cronkite, between Jerome Shimeall of Shopiere, and a Mr. Putnam, who lives north of here, was settled Saturday before coming to trial, the defendant, Putnam, paying $8 and costs, amounting to $9. Putnam it is claimed by the plaintiff, took 1700 pounds of old iron from his farm without his permission and refused to pay for same, hence criminal proceedings were begun by Shimeall. The residence occupied by William Smith on the Byron Wilcox farm east of town, was totally consumed by fire Saturday morning, the family barely escaping with their lives. The fire occurred about four o'clock in the morning and none of the household goods were saved. Next Sunday Children's Day will be observed at the various churches, when appropriate exercises will be given, the little ones taking part with songs and speaking. The pastor of the Congregational church preached a very interesting discourse last Sunday morning on the subject: "Where does the soul go after death?" He took for his text, "This day shalt thou be with me in Paradise." After the sermon the audience was requested to write questions relative to the theme for answer. About a dozen were collected by the ushers and all were promptly answered by the pastor. Mrs. Aline Miner, of Turtle, a sister of Hon. C. M. Treat, of this village, recently celebrated the eightieth anniversary of her birth by inviting in a number of friends and relatives to spend the day. uation Exercises Held.

Shopiere, June 6.—There has been no time in the history of Shopiere when the people of this vicinity ever gathered on so many notable occasions in one week. First came Memorial day, when a large concourse of people gathered at the M. E. church, to listen to the address of Rev. F. C. Richardson, who was not a soldier of the late war nor of the war of '61-'65, but his remarks brought up many remembrances of the past, which touched the hearts of many. After the services at the church the line of march was led by the old soldiers, followed by the school children and the Modern Woodmen, to the cemetery. After the soldiers' graves had been decorated with flowers, a few remarks were given by Rev. Mr. Jordan, which were exceedingly appropriate. Next came the Woodmen's picnic at Beloit, Thursday, June 1, where many of our people again met; about eighty neighbors of Camp 1875 being present. On Friday afternoon of the same week the graduation exercises of our school were held at the Congregational church, which was crowded to its utmost capacity. The band from the state school for the blind furnished excellent music. The drills by the scholars were perfect. Hobo Convention is Called Danville, Ill., Will Do Honors in Entertaining.

Danville, Ill., is the place selected for a convention on the 15th inst. that is to be a very novel gathering indeed, and one which we feel quite confident in saying the Bower City business men will not be anxious to secure for next year or any year thereafter.

A convention of hoboes has been called to meet there June 15. The call has been circulated in rural districts and cities for some time. Quite as unique as the convention itself is this "call." It is a tiny poster or "sticker" for handy pasting on lamp posts and covering landmarks of the highways.

The hoboes are their own bill posters and they are posting up the love-least call at countless places along the roadways all over the country. Within the last few weeks 10,000 of these posters have been printed and distributed at the expense of a wealthy young man of Sycamore, Ill., who styles himself a "society tramp."

Under the name of "Box Car Tourists' Union, No. 67," more than 300 hoboes of Chicago have organized to get in readiness for convention work. They claim to be affiliated with 100 similar organizations covering most of the territory between "the great divide" of the Rocky mountain range and the Atlantic seaboard. An outline of the program for the convention has been drawn up. It includes discussions of the economic and social conditions out of which the hobo evolved himself or has been evolved. College graduates in disguise or "reduced" by drink will be among the eloquent speakers at the meeting. Tents and empty barrels will house the delegates and a sand lot owned by "Onion" Cotton, a hotel proprietor of Danville, has already been selected for the holding of the convention, which is to be in the open air.

Stevens Point, Wis., June 5.—The Amherst bank robbers will not be sentenced until Tuesday. The trial just concluded cost Portage county about $3,000. The maximum penalty of their crime is ten years.

JURY SAYS THEY ROBBED THE BANK

VERDICT REACHED IN THE AMHERST CASE.

Deliberate Over Five Hours—Incendiaries Apply the Torch to Resort Near Pembine—Milwaukee Life Insurance Company Complies with the Law—Pay State Tax of $152,739.21

Stevens Point, Wis., June 3—John Harrington, Edward Ratigan, John Harley and John Kelly, all of Chicago, were found guilty in the circuit court late yesterday afternoon of the charge of blowing up the safe of the International bank of Amherst on March 10, of stealing therefrom money and bonds to the extent of $5,000.

The men were arrested after a desperate struggle with firearms at Wausau March 11, and had been closely confined in the Stevens Point jail until the trial began on May 22.

The prosecution was conducted by District Attorney Owen, assisted by W. C. Williams, of Grand Rapids. The men were defended by John H. Brennan and S. Cornelius.

The men are found guilty of burglary and larceny and will be sent to the penitentiary for five years each. The jury was out five and one-half hours.

John Reininger, of Waupaca, was sentenced to five years in Waupun today, after pleading guilty to burglary. He is 50 years old.

Pays State Tax of $152,739.21

Madison, Wis., June 3—The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, of Milwaukee, has paid the increased taxes required by the Orton law, passed by the legislature last winter, to the insurance commissioner. The amount is $152,739.21, which is stated to be 1 per cent. of the company's gross income, with rents, etc., deducted. The company had already paid $33,657.20, the amount due under the old law, 2 per cent. on the income in Wisconsin, and an allowance was made for this amount.

POLICE OFFICERS PUZZLED

Queer Animal on North Main Street Caused Them to Worry.

During the height of the storm last evening Officer Benke discovered a queer animal on North Main street near the engine house.

Not being well informed, Officer Benke went back and secured Night Officer McGinley and together the two proceeded up the street to further investigate.

On approaching the animal, Officer McGinley, not caring to risk any chances, struck it with his cane and the little fellow fell over half dead.

A light was then procured and the "queer animal" proved to be Paul Gehrke's pet ferret, valued at $10.

The chances are it will recover.

VERDICT ANNOUNCED IN DREYFUS MATTER

INTERESTED PARTY ORDERED TO BE BROUGHT BACK.

Court Orders a New Court Martial to Sit at Rennes—President Mazan Read Verdict in Favor of Revision—Announcement Received Quietly—No Demonstration.

Paris, June 3—[Special]—The Court of Cassation this morning announced a decision in the Dreyfus matter. The court ordered the new court martial to sit at Rennes.

President Mazan, of the court, read the verdict in favor of revision and ordered Dreyfus brought back immediately.

The announcement of the verdict was received quietly. There were comparatively few persons in the court room when the decision was received. There has been no demonstration on the streets thus far.

Captain Alfred Dreyfus, an Alsatian Jew employed in the French war office, was arrested in 1894 in great secrecy and at a time of anti-semitic agitation. His arrest was the result of the discovery of a document thought to indicate him in traitors' acts. Before he had even been heard in his own presence, Gen. Mercier, then minister of war, announced publicly that he had positive proof of Dreyfus' guilt.

A secret court martial was held, and Dreyfus was convicted, to be publicly degraded and banished to Devil's Isle. The scene of Dreyfus' degradation was most dramatic.

Thousands surrounded him in the yards of Ecole Militaire, hissing, jeering, and execrating him as a traitor.

As an officer broke his sword across his knee, he raised his voice and cried:

"I swear I am innocent. Vive La France."

March 15 he was taken to Devil's Island.

Not long after his conviction, doubts as to his guilt arose, and agitation started by Zola, who in a famous newspaper article, accused his fellow officers of conspiring to prove Dreyfus guilty of a crime he never committed. Henry's suicide, Esterhazy's confession of forgery, and other events connected with the famous case are now well known to newspaper readers.

Mrs. Clara B. Robertson, wife of William J. Robertson, died on Thursday, June 1.

PLEASURES OF HIGH SCHOOL LIFE ENDED

FIRST SECTION OF GRADUATING CLASS APPEARS.

Seventeen Young Ladies and Gentlemen Experience the Pleasure After Years of Toil in Books—Interesting Program Consisted of Essays, Orations, Theses and Music.

The time of graduating is once more with us. It is a period looked forward to by every conscientious industrious scholar. To them it is one of the epochs of life in which the mental labors of past years center, and to an honorable acquittal in its examinations and other tests of proficiency, their best energies are concentrated. To the parent of the aspiring pupil the event is of hardly less importance, for at this time they can more accurately mark the progress of the child than at any other, and that the son or daughter shall acquit himself or herself with credit is a matter of legitimate pride and self congratulation. These are the influences which surrounded the gathering at Myers Grand last evening and which will continue until Thursday evening inclusive. Long before the hour for the beginning of the evening's exercises, the opera house was fairly crowded with parents and friends of the class of 1899. The stage is beautifully decorated for the occasion and is the work of the Junior class.

Promptly at 8 o'clock the exercises of the evening began, Superintendent D. D. Mayne presiding. He spoke of the efforts on the part of the teachers to have the program reflect credit and was of the impression that this year their efforts had been quite successful.

The program opened with a vocal selection, "Steersman's Song," by the Oriental Male Quartette. The quartette includes F. B. Newton and C. H. Ogdon, tenors; E. C. Rowden and W. A. Ward, basses. The musical part of the program was all that could be desired and was greatly enjoyed. During the evening the quartette sang "O Susanna," "Evening Song," and "Little Cotton Dolly."

The first member of the class of '99 to make his appearance was Ray Owen, the class president, who delivered the salutatory. The speaker conveyed the idea that this is the commencement and not the finish. He welcomed the audience and expressed the class' appreciation of their presence.

"The Panama Canal" was the subject of a thesis by Alva G. Austin. His thesis was interestingly illustrated.

Bertha D. Proctor's subject was "Art in the Public Schools."

Rosa E. Locke spoke on the subject, "Fertilization of Flowers."

One of the best written numbers was Nettie B. Eddington's eulogy of "Stephen A. Douglas."

A thesis was given by Don C. Holloway on "The Spectroscope," its theoretical and practical value.

A number which was very interesting was the thesis, "Angel Food," by Sarah Venable. She explained the science of the food, the nutritive value of its elements and, then, assisted by Misses Vera Wilcox and Mary Stevens, two Freshmen cooks, she proceeded to make and bake the cake, which was afterwards eaten by the members of the class.

"Development of Greek Art," as treated by Katherine F. O'Donnell was very interesting.

A pleasing novelty in the program was a declamation, "Dolly Go," recited by Eva S. Mayhew.

Owing to illness, Frank R. Shepard was not able to appear, and his oration, "America's Future," was not given.

Grace D. Arnold made a strong and convincing argument in her oration, "One View of Higher Education for Women."

"Snow Flakes" was the subject of a thesis given by Georgetta Cousins, who explained the beauties of the flakes.

The life of the class was treated by Elizabeth Johnson in historical style. Miss Johnson introduced each volume in a witty manner. Neil J. McVicar represented the prehistoric age and told of the events of the Freshman year.

Ada Hill, in Greek costume, looked the stately spirit of ancient history and told in interesting manner of the deeds of the Sophomore year. Elmer A. Clark made a decided hit with his brave stories of the heroic happenings in the age of chivalry, the Junior year. Modern history, or the record of great events during the Senior year, was related by Miss Myrtle Dewey.

The oration on "Imperialism" by Percy F. Kearney was a strong number and very interesting.

The program closed with the class song, sung by the class, with Nellie Martha Hubbard, its composer, at the piano.

The program tonight will begin promptly at 8 o'clock. Among the class exercises will be the class prophecy and the singing of German songs.

The class which receive their diplomas this year is one of which the patrons of the Janesville public schools may feel justly proud. It speaks volumes for the educational facilities of the Bower City. It is the largest class ever graduated from the local high school and includes forty-six young ladies and twenty-eight young gentlemen, who have a fair start in the equipment of knowledge for life's great battle.

Those who will appear on last evening's program were:

Ray Owen, Neil J. McVicar, Ada Hill, Myrtle F. Dewey, Elizabeth E. Johnson, Bertha D. Proctor, Don C. Holloway, Katherine F. O'Donnell, Eva S. Mayhew, Alva G. Austin, Percy F. Kearney, Rosa E. Locke, Georgetta Cousins, Frank R. Shepard, Nettie B. Eddington, Grace D. Arnold, Sarah A. Venable, Jessie E. Harper.
